Notes

The problem is a 'human' one... Not a cat one! Education regards responsibility with owning Any animal, is sadly lacking... Poisoning Any animal, is Not acceptable. I suggest 'catch cages' are needed to trap feral cats... Those caught are then to be euthanaesed by a vet. Poisoning is Not acceptable — Education begins in schools. It is Very important to Teach children how to care and take responsibility for Any animal... 'Be Proactive, NOT Reactive!' Background: I was involved in Animal Welfare for nearly 20 years, working for the Waitakere City Council Animal Welfare Organisation. For seven of those years, I was a Team Leader - ran the Kennels... Dealt with the public, vets, voluntary organisations... I was involved with re-homing And Euthanasing of many dogs And cats. I organised visits with school groups who came to our premises - children are responsive to learning ... They are our future pet owners. My submission is based on practical knowledge.
