Notes

I would love to see NZ protect its natural landscape to the greatest possible extent. Te Waikoropupu is just one example of a place that is polluted but recoverable. It does the soul good to see beautiful environments and this world could do with some soulfood. Caring about our environment is part of caring about ourselves and others. People who live in the world's big cities and wastelands have lost this possibility. We haven't. But we will if don't step up and do something about place llke Te Waikoropupo. Also - the more we care about our environment the healthier we will be - the fewer chemicals we will need to clean up after ourselves
