Notes

We have visited these springs several times (and so should everybody making decisions about them) and they are a wonder of nature. I imagine in the future there will be very few places in the world like this and we as a country have a responsibility to do our best to keep the Springs as they are. This means not allowing any activities which could endanger the flow of this wonderful clear water. Commercial enterprises just have to rethink how to do things and/or whether to do them at all
