Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your request for any records about the removal of the subterranean petrol tanks, which supposedly occurred after the closure of the service station on Black Mount Station some time in the 1970s. Your initial request for information from Environment Southland has been referred to the Environmental Protection Authority, and we have treated this as a request for information under the Official Information Act (OIA).

We have transferred your request to the WorkSafe New Zealand (WorkSafe). We do not hold the information you have requested, but we believe it is more closely connected with the functions of WorkSafe. Therefore, we are required by section 14 of the Official Information Act 1982 to transfer your request to them.

You will hear directly from WorkSafe concerning your request. WorkSafe can be contacted at OIA@worksafe.govt.nz.

Yours sincerely
